

Woman gets jail time for home break, night assault

Posted: Friday, July 13, 2012 11:15 pm | Updated: 12:24 am, Sun Jan 6, 2013.

By A.J. ALGIER / Sun Staff Writer |

1 hour ago by mikem.

Article: Facelift for town athletic fields

@making sense, lets not forget when Westerly was chosen to host a col...

1 hour ago by Gladys33.

Article: Facelift for town athletic fields

It seems to me they are taking a sensible approach. Across the river,...

1 hour ago by harry bachman.

Article: ANOTHER VIEW: Message that Obama's push... weren't we told this past campaign season not to vote for republicans...

3 hours ago by itsmee.

Article: EDITORIAL: Bravo for the arts

It really was spectacular. A huge thank you to all who worked to pul...

4 hours ago by mardi9b.

Article: Gordon returns home as new Westerly ten...

I couldn't have heard better news re Coach Gordon's return to Westerl...

Today's Events

Hopkinton Recreation Dept. Activities

Northern Moods: Paintings of Nova Scotia

Gallery at Firehouse Square, New London

Four Seasons, Four Views

Mystic & Noank Library, Mystic

Post Your Event

See More Events

Community Calendar sponsored by

WAKEFIELD — A 64-year-old Wickford woman convicted in a non-jury trial for being part of a nighttime home invasion at a Richmond woman's home was sentenced in Washington County Superior Court on Thursday.

Although receiving jail time, the prison sentence was stayed while she completes extensive mental health counseling.

Carol Ray, part of a duo that included Stephen F. Fuoroli, 60, formerly of North Kingstown, was found guilty of dwelling with felonious intent; assault on a person over 60; and felony assault with a deadly weapon, a flashlight on a fourth charge of conspiracy.

Fuoroli faces the same charges, but has yet to go to trial. His next court date is scheduled for July 17.

Judge Wilk Thunberg sentenced Ray to 10 years in prison with just two to serve; upon release, she will serve an 8-year sentence with eight years of probation. She was also ordered to have no contact with the victim or Fuoroli; attend counseling; perform 200 hours of community service; and pay restitution to the victim.

The judge also required written verification that Ray is engaged with mental health services and is completing court requirements. Ray was represented by her court-appointed attorney, Melissa Larsen.

Richmond police said Fuoroli was familiar with the victim after he did some tree cutting on her property. In court, the woman — said the couple came to her door and as she opened it forced their way into her home. She said she was hit with a flashlight and robbed.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant Attorney General Mark J. Trovato and Special Assistant Attorney General /

aalgier@thewesterlysun.com

© Copyright 2013, The Westerly Sun, Pawcatuck, CT. Powered by Blox CMS.